Theology of the Body For Men

All men are invited to attend an 8-part study of Pope John Paul II's teachings titled, "Theology of the Body", the first major teaching project of his pontificate that provides a profoundly beautiful vision of human embodiment and erotic love. By helping us understand the profound interconnection between sex and the Christian mystery, it not only paves the way for lasting renewal of marriage and the family, but it also enables everyone to rediscover "the meaning of the whole of existence, the meaning of life" (TOB 46:6).

The study begins Monday, June

15th, at 6:30pm and will probably be held in the church library. Meetings are every other Monday and will last approximately two hours. Cost is $20. Student discounts available. Please contact Clayton Meaux at 337-254-6914 for more information.

Thank You!

Small Scripture Study For Men

You are invited to join small scripture study groups based on the Church's tradition called Lectio Divina. Lectio Divina, or Divine Reading, is an ancient monastic practice that Pope Benedict XVI has recommended to all lay Catholics as a way to hear God and respond to Him with openness of heart. Following this tradition, the study groups examine the context of the following Sunday Gospel reading and spend time in guided reflection and discussion points that lead to a weekly personal resolution. Our goal is a deeper understanding of God's Word, a deeper prayer life, and growth in virtue. We have kept the study to an hour. An ideal group is made of 4 to 7 people, and is easy to facilitate. We have two men's groups established and have an open invitation for additional participants or study groups based on personal availability. If you would like more information about joining one of these groups or beginning your own study group, please contact Gregg Hamilton at 315-7101.
